

GENEROSITY OF SPIRIT

We should always pray for a greater generosity of spirit, to bring us closer to God's way of working: a generosity that looks kindly on others and their efforts, which are probably better than our own!

We should try to live in a way that seeks to view life not as a crisis every minute, but as part of a larger whole.

Then when our nerves are not jangling into discord, we will get a more stable view of others existence, as well as our own.
