

Hearing Without Listening

---

Peter heard the words of Jesus (Matthew 16 13-19), that day at Caesarea Philippi. He'd been with his Lord long enough to know that they were important.

We, too, can be filled with enthusiasm on a Sunday morning, yet by Monday the message has lost much of its impact. We hear, but we do not listen. And when we do share the words and the knowledge and love of God with others, let us not be surprised or disheartened, if they, too, seem to hear without listening.

They, like Peter, may yet come to Christ. We have sown the seed, but all seeds do not germinate at the same time.